

Hephaestus Build-Off

Hephaestus was always a master builder and tinkerer of machines. Today you will try out your luck at building and working together as a team. Make Hephaestus proud!!!

Each team has three blocks/tracks and a ball. In this game each team will send out five people to start. There will be someone to roll the ball. Three people that will be holding the track, and one person at the end that will catch the ball. The players will roll the ball down the track to their partner that is going to catch the ball. The partner that catches the ball will run to the cone and throw the ball into the bucket. Each time this happens the team scores a point. IF they miss the shot they do not get a second try and the point does not count. IF the ball falls off the track, or the player at the end does not catch it their turn is over. The next five people will step up and the first five will get back in line. This will continue until time runs out. The team with the most points at the end wins.
